CSPD-N113 Character Design Studio
Instructor: Bryce Hallett

SUPPLY LIST

Here is an optional list of materials. Some students prefer to draw digitally, some with traditional methods. The choice is up to you. I will do demos with both.

Purchasing a sketchbook and pencils is encouraged regardless of the student's chosen method.

DIGITAL MEDIA: Many students choose to draw digitally with their preferred app (Sketchbook Pro, Procreate, Photoshop, Krita, etc) I won't get into software specifics as there are too many to choose, but the design theory can be applied to any method. I will primarily be using Photoshop in digital demonstrations
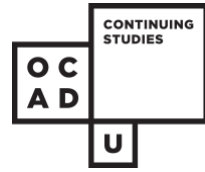

TRADITIONAL MEDIA: Students are responsible for providing their own materials and supplies for this course and are encouraged to use products they already own whenever possible.

Drawing Tools:

• Canson XL Mix Media Sketchbook 7" x 10" or 9" x 12" or your preferred sketchbook as long as it is WHITE (not off-white), can accept light watercolour and the pages should be easily removed. This sketchbook is great because the pages are perforated and come out neatly.

• Col-Erase Coloured Pencils (erasable pencil crayons) in TWO DIFFERENT colours, I recommend INDIGO BLUE and SCARLET RED. Please avoid very light colours as they will be difficult to see.

- Optional: b, 2b, 4b pencils. I personally like to sketch in pencil while brainstorming and figuring out design shapes and shade/ tone.
- Ruler
- Some sheets of copy paper.
- Masking Tape

Painting Tools:

- BRUSHES and TUBES OF WATERCOLOUR PAINT The following are recommendations. You are welcome to start off with watercolours and brushes you already have
- Above Ground White Taklon LH Round #4
- Above Ground White Taklon LH Bright #14 and/or any additional brushes you want to use
- Staedtler Watercolour Paints 12ml Tubes Set of 12 (available at Above Ground) or any set of basic watercolours in a TUBE
- Round Plastic Pallette- 10 wells

Others:

- Paper Towels, tissue and a kitchen sponge (no scouring pad)
- Water container to wash brushes

NOTE: You are welcome to include other colours and materials that you already own in your